About Zarvis

Zarvis Ng is a Board Certified Behavior Analyst committed to supporting individuals with developmental disabilities and their caregivers through evidence-based, compassionate care. With expertise in Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA), he designs and delivers individualized programs that foster communication, social skills, independence, and resilience across diverse settings. His work reflects a dedication to improving quality of life and empowering clients to reach their fullest potential.

Blending academic rigor with practical expertise, Zarvis has gained extensive experience providing one-on-one therapy, school shadowing, and social skills group training for children with autism, while guiding parents and caregivers to reinforce progress at home and in the community. His practice emphasizes collaboration, ensuring that families, educators, and professionals work together to create holistic support systems.

As an independent clinician, Zarvis provides direct behavioral services while also supervising other practitioners in the implementation of behavior-analytic interventions. This dual focus on client care and professional development reflects his commitment to both meaningful outcomes and the advancement of the field.

Through his diverse roles, Zarvis has supported children, adolescents, and families in achieving developmental progress, nurturing resilience and empowerment at every stage.
